WHEREAS, the leadership of the Canadian Auto Workers Union (CAW) have committed to the people of the Town of Saugeen Shores on more than one occasion that should the industrial wind turbine erected by them at the Family Education Center in Port Elgin prove to threaten public safety in some demonstrable manner that the CAW would address the problem openly and would be willing to go so far as to shut the turbine down (or control its hours of operation) if necessary to protect the health and safety of the public.

AND WHEREAS, the Council of the Town of Saugeen Shores in Committee of the Whole on August 26th 2013 received delegations from representatives of five families who have experienced repeated episodes of ill health which they feel are related directly to the operation of the industrial wind turbine at the CAW Family Education Center. These episodes have reportedly included headaches, black spots in the vision, vertigo, sleep interruptions, uncontrollable trembling, elevated blood pressure, dizziness and tinnitus.

NOW THEREFORE, the Town of Saugeen Shores requests that, out of regard for the health of these families and respecting the commitments made to the community by the leadership of the CAW, the owners of the CAW Family Education Center take immediate action to shut down the operation of the industrial wind turbine located at that facility.
